HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
Hoofland's German Tonic.
The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.
Those preferring a Medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.
Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.
They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.
The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:
Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.
The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigations and inquiries possesses true merit, is skillfully compounded, is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.
Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.
These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhœa, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.
DEBILITY,
Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c.
There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.
PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,
And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.
NOTICE.
It is a well established fact that fully one half of the sensible portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression, never feel well. They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.
To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.
WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,
Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail.
Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.
HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:
Philadelphia, March 18, 1867.
"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in diseases and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD."
HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.
"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."
FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.
Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates St.
FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL,
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.
I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.
Yours truly,
E. D. FENDALL.

WALLACE AND HIS COFFEE-POT
In the Political Campaign of 1867.

BY J. SEWELL STEWART.

'Twas eventide—past supper time—
The shanty table cleared;
When to the door a pilgrim came,
With dust upon his beard.

He asked if Collins' boss was in—
And could he with him speak?
Was ushered in—politely told:
"There stands the man you seek."

The boss inquired who he was—
Said: "Pray, what's to befall us?"
He said: "I bring no evil news;
My name is William Wallace.

"I want two hundred men to vote
The Democratic ticket;
The number needed you can call
From this secluded thicket."

The boss replied: "Sir, all my gang
Are fresh from Erin's sod;
And have no better right to vote,
Than Aaron's magic rod."

"I have that fixed," the pilgrim said,
"The papers signed and sealed;
There's naught to do but write their names,
When ballots they can wield.

"And as the documents are fresh
And have no badge of age,
I have my coffee-pot along,
To tan the snowy page.

"We'll boil them for a little while
In coffee strong as lye,
When they will pass official gaze—
Detection will defy."

Like Barney, then the cook was told,
To put the kettle on;
While from the chock-rolls were transcrib'd
The names that stood thereon.

The boss and pilgrim boiled them well
To look like copperheads;
And then rejoiced—nor felt the tramp
Of conscience's stealthy treads.

The job well done, the pilgrim said:
"Assess and swear them through;
Our chance for victory depends
On what you thus may do."

And starting off for other fields—
His coffee-pot in hand;
Exulting, said: "Aladin's lamp
Did nothing half so grand.

"Let orators their speeches make
And editors indite;
With this good coffee-pot, I can
Be victor in the fight.

"Two hundred voters to the gallon,
Its conquests are and more;
Ne'er whiskey in its palmiest days,
Such splendid trophies bore."

Thus on his pilgrimage he went
From Centre to Luzerne;
Baptizing in the wilderness
With coffee from his urn.

And as he went, he sang this song:
"My magic coffee-pot—
You've raised us up ten thousand votes—
My bubbling coffee-pot!

"Hurra!" he yelled; but as the voice
Careered among the trees—
He hushed, in fear his secret would
Be borne upon the breeze.

Like palmer from the holy land,
The Keystone Club he sought;
He had no palm-leaf in his hand,
But had his coffee-pot.

October seventh, in the night,
They heard his glowing story;
And straightway placed upon his brow
The laurel wreath of glory.

'Mid thundering shouts that shook the house—
With gin and joy so hot—
They throned beside Columbia's Eagle,
The glorious Coffee-Pot.

LIVELY TIME AT A CIRCUS.—While Hemmings, Cooper & Whitby's circus was performing to an immense audience in Flemmingsburg, Ky., a few days since, a heavy rain storm, accompanied by a violent wind, inundated and blew down the tent. The scene is described by a local paper as follows: At first there was but little excitement among the spectators, but when the stakes of the outer canvass gave way, and the immense center pole of the large one commenced to sway and groan, and the sides to flop and give way—when the lions commenced to growl and roar, the elephant to swing his huge proboscis around, and the horses to neigh and stamp—the confusion was indescribable, and the excitement the wildest we ever saw.—Everybody rushed pell mell for the entrance, gentlemen and ladies in a confused mass, calling alternately for help and friends. Of course, on the top seats some jumped to the bottom, some fell through, some were caught and suspended while falling, and a great many cut their way through the canvass. At this juncture the elephant broke out among the people, and created a terrible excitement, and the writer started for the entrance "at a lively gait." Before he reached it he was clasped in the arms of a lady, who implored him to save her. When he reached the outer world, things presented a very comic appearance. The rain was falling in torrents, the lightning flashed and thunder crashed.—Men in their fright ran against the ticket wagon, over ladies, wildly to and fro. Many of the ladies screamed, fainted and fell, and had to be carried to Mr. Newcomb's residence, which was about two hundred yards distant. Here, too, a great many swooned away from fright and excitement, but none, we are happy to say, were killed or scared to death. After the storm had abated the great canvas was explored, but no one was found to be seriously injured.

The Grand-Children are Coming.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher writes the following for the N. Y. Ledger:

After all, what is the use? We set up our house, and one by one the children fly into it, like birds out of some foreign wood into a cage—one, two, three, four, and more. With each one comes also a cry; and that is the keynote to which a hundred sorrows add their voices, and gradually swell into that strange chorus which men call human life! For each child there is to be a fringe of care on the edge of every day. Each child brings burdens and anxieties. Tears in their eyes are but harbingers of many more in the eyes of all who love them! To shape them, from infancy, to goodness, to teach their hands, to drill their heads, to repair their mistakes and secure firm footing in an honorable manhood, who can measure the thought, the feeling, the endeavor? And then, when the long task is done, is there no compensation? Or do they not, one by one, detach themselves, and, like comely fruit, fall from the bough, on which they grew, leaving it bare and empty?

That daughter—just as she began to be a full companion, to repay all the labor of her training—is snatched away by some one who has known her fewer weeks than the parents have years; she goes. The house is empty of her. Her room, her drawers, her books and school tasks, fondly preserved, carry a sadness to the mother's heart every time they are looked upon. The boys, almost before you dream that they have ceased to be boys, come asking the father's blessing on a new comer. By the time that father or mother are conscious of age and infirmity, the whole brood is scattered and gone. The house is solitary. It used to be straightened for room when the children were at home, but now there is room too much. It used to be noisy, but now one might doze all day, for all the noise. Only the fire snapping out suddenly, or the drowsy old clock ticking behind the door, or a kitten mewing to get in, or to get out, or a squeaking rat or mouse, make an audible noise. When the children are all home, a man is like a Norway spruce, whose well-grown branches, beginning from the level of the ground, rise up in a perfect pyramid, shaping the tree to exquisite proportions. But each child married is a bough lopped off; leaving a wide space, until the parent trunk is finally trimmed up like a shaft, and all the verdure left clinging about the top.

In European communities, the children often marry and settle down around their childhood home. But this is rare in America. The endless circulation that is going on sweeps away the children; and to be married is almost synonymous with going far away from home.

All this, Mr. Bonner, describes my state of mind last week. It is very different now. Word has come that the grand children are coming home. Coming home? What! both the children? and their mother? for a good long visit? Bless their little hearts, let them come. There's nothing in this house too good for them. Now, then, we shall have a household once more. Children are the flowers which God sends down from Heaven to enliven and cheer this life. What was I saying a little back, about the care, and anxiety, and pain, and trouble, of bringing them up? Stuff—mere stuff, Mr. Bonner, I assure you. Don't believe a word of it. I was surely in a dream. It was a half nightmare. I am awake now and do assure you that he who is fit to have and rear children, will see ten, yes, a hundred joys to every sorrow, and the sunshine of their smiles will turn into rainbows every tear they shed or cause to be shed.

If there is anything in this world that pays as it goes along, it is taking care of children. Raising flowers is all very well. But flowers have in them no mischief, they behave too well, they lack human nature, they need the irridescent qualities of disposition that flash from the surface of every child's life. Children a trouble? Do they pout? fret? disobey and go wrong? Don't you with your asters and honeysuckles? What would you give to have a singing vine, or a flower that could learn to say its prayers! Why, trouble in the nursery is a parent's pastime. If one don't believe it, let him be left for awhile without children. He will soon be glad to hear that the grand-children are coming home!

Well, we must get ready for them. Let the drawers be filled with candy. Get out the crib, and put up the dear little narrow bed again. Hunt up the dolls, the wagons, the play house, the picture books, the strings. Where are the tall chairs for the table, and the little cups, and knives and forks for a child's hand? It looks like living again! Now we shall be waked up in the morning by a chubby rogue climbing up on the bed, and playing tricks with my eyes and nose! Then will come the trooping down to breakfast, and all the table antics. Then we will go up to family prayers and what a time those children will make of it.—Children are not natural worshippers! But how patient will we be! Nothing shall fret us. Already we are more robust and shall let out the buckle of our girdle one or two holes. In short, the grand-children are coming; and in bringing themselves back to us, they bring back the childhood of their parents, too, and bring us back to ourselves!

☞ "What did you used to do, ma, before you were married?" asked a cherubic four year old. "Well, my dear, I had a very good time." "A good time!" he exclaimed indignantly, "what, without me!"

The Adventures of Some Michigan Boys with General Grant.

A correspondent of the Rochester (New York,) Express says:—

During the spring of 1861 I was on detail at General Ord's headquarters, and frequently carried despatches to General Grant. He knew me as one of General Ord's orderlies. When the latter was transferred from the North to the South side of the James river, and operated with General Sheridan in the rout and capture of Lee's army, I was often compelled to ride through the greater part of our own troops before I could find Grant and deliver my despatches.

One morning in April I received some captured letters and orders and some copies of reports of scouts and Rebel deserters, and was directed to find General Grant and deliver them to him. After riding several hours I found him between our lines during one of the front and rear attacks which the enemy made upon our left near Dinwiddie Court House. This rear attack produced not a little confusion in our troops. Here and there was hurrying to and fro, riding in hot haste, giving and changing orders, taking new positions, or changing front. As yet the firing was desultory; a few had been killed and several wounded. General Grant, accompanied with one staff officer and an orderly or two, was assisting the division and brigade commanders in the suitable disposition of their forces, he having come upon that part of our line soon after these simultaneous attacks were made.

While engaged with these arrangements, three soldiers passed near the General, carrying a dead man, wrapped in a blanket, from the skirmish line. Grant rode up to them, and ordering them to stop, said:—"Who have you here?"

One of them replied:—"We have the body of our Captain. We are taking it to the rear. He was just now killed on the skirmish line." They were young men, rather tall and fine-looking and appeared from eighteen to twenty-four years of age.

"You remember, my brave boy," says the General, "that the first duty of a soldier in the hour of battle, is to secure the victory; that acquired, there will be sufficient time to care for the wounded, collect the captured property, and bury the dead."

"We know that, General," said the oldest, glancing at the stars of the Lieutenant-General; "but he was our father, too. When we set out for the war we all promised our mother and sister that whoever should die, the survivors would send home to be buried on the banks of the Kalamazoo."

"It can make but little difference to your brave father where the body lies," said Grant, "while the more than Spartan patriotism and self-denial of your mother and sister will not permit you to leave the post of duty in an hour like this." They nedded assent, but were too deeply affected to reply. They laid the body of their father at the roots of a pine tree which stood near by, and, half running, half walking, returned to their regiment. Tears glistened in the eyes of the commanding General as he remarked their earnest, though sorrowful resignation, and he often turned to catch a glimpse of them as they sunk in the little valleys and rose on the hills hurrying back.

Within less than two hours the battle for the day was won. The three brothers came out unhurt. The body of their father was embalmed at City Point, and sent to Parma, Michigan.

A little more than a month afterwards, when that part of the army passed through Richmond, the two younger brothers were the junior officers in their father's company, and the elder was the adjutant of their regiment.

HOW TO BECOME A MILLIONAIRE.—J. McDonough, the millionaire of New Orleans, had engraved upon his tomb a series of maxims he had prescribed as the rule for his guidance through life, and to which his success in business is mainly attributed. They contian so much wisdom that we copy them:—

RULES FOR GUIDANCE OF MY LIFE IN 1804.—Remember always that labor is one of the conditions of our existence. Time is gold; throw not one minute away, but place each one to account. Do unto all men as you would be done by. Never put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day. Never bid another do what you can do yourself. Never covet what is not your own. Never think any matter so trifling as not to deserve notice. Never give out that which did not first come in. Never spend but to produce. Let the greatest order regulate the transactions of your life. Study in your course of life to do the greatest amount of good.—Deprive yourself of nothing necessary to your comfort, but live in an honorable simplicity. Labor, then, to the last moment of your existence. Pursue strictly the above rules, and the Divine blessing and riches of every kind will flow upon you to your heart's content; but first of all, remember that the chief and great duty of your life should be to tend, by all means in your power, to the honor and glory of our Divine Creator.

The conclusion to which I have arrived is, that without temperance there is no health; without virtue no order; without religion no happiness; and that the aim of our being is to live wisely, soberly, and religiously.

THADDEUS STEVENS.

Last Honors to the Departed Statesman,

LANCASTER, PA., August 17, 1868.—During Saturday the remains of Mr. Stevens lay in state in the parlor of his late residence, and were visited by many hundreds of his friends and constituents, the street was crowded during the whole time. The doors were open, and up to a late hour in the evening, after which many were sent away disappointed. On Sunday, contrary to intention, the immense press of visitors, persistent though respectful, caused the relatives to admit many to see the remains. Early in the morning the coffin was again opened, and the crowd again commenced pouring thro' the rooms. The coffin was decorated with wreathes and a cross of evergreens and white lilies. The face was becoming somewhat discolored, but the expression was the same. Previous to the arrival of the train, the people of the vicinity began to come in by hundreds, the vehicles lining the streets, and the people the sidewalk. The first train brought from Harrisburg Governor Geary, Senator Cameron, General Heintzelman, and several officers of the Department and a number of citizens, and from York another delegation. They proceeded to visit the remains, finding some difficulty in reaching the door on account of the crowd even at that early hour. Still they came, filling the streets, the scene exceeding anything witnessed here for years, but there was no confusion or disorder.

The trains Westward next arrived, the regular one bringing large organized delegations from various parts along the route, one of the finest of which came from Westchester. The special train from Philadelphia brought the Mayor and Council of that city, delegations from the Invincibles and the Union League, the latter carrying a splendid banner draped in mourning, also a representation from the colored citizens of Philadelphia, including a committee from the Banniker Literary Institution. The streets were by this time literally filled by the vast crowd, and now the various organizations began to muster for the procession, all turning out in large numbers, and despite the difficulties incident to the crowded state of the streets, they were promptly formed by the efficient Marshal, Colonel W. K. Barr.

At two o'clock, the services at the house were commenced with an invocation by Rev. A. H. Kremer, of the First Dutch Reformed Church. Rev. Bishop Biegler, of the Moravian Church then read the Ninetieth Psalm. Rev. E. H. Nevin followed in prayer. The coffin was then closed and conveyed to the hearse by the pall bearers, and the line of procession began to move as follows:—Captain of police and city police; Chief Marshal and Aides; the fire department; the Shifflers had the left, it being the company of which the deceased was for many years a member and officer; the city cornet band; Mayor, Councils and School Board of Lancaster; county officers and United States officers of the Ninth District; the medical faculty; members of the press; trustees, faculty and students of the Franklin and Marshall College and State Normal School; Monterey Lodge of Odd Fellows; Junior Order of American Mechanics; Westchester delegation; deputation of colored citizens of Philadelphia and other places, including a representation from the Board of Aldermen from Washington City; Republican Invincibles; Union League of Philadelphia, with draped banners; Mayor and Councils of Philadelphia; Bar of Lancaster; Governor Geary and State Officers; Committee of Arrangements; clergy; pall bearers; hearse attended by a Committee of Escort from Washington; relatives of deceased in carriages. The procession of citizens, which was intended to close the procession, was abandoned, as the crowd was so great as to make it impossible to form into line, and they moved in masses towards the burial ground in advance of the procession proper. The line marched up South Queen street to Center Square; out East King to Lime, up Lime to Chestnut, down Chestnut to the cemetery, when the various organizations divided to the right and left, and the clergy and hearse with its attendants passed through, and the procession closed up in the rear. Not one-tenth of the vast assemblage could find standing room within the grounds, and streets on all sides were blocked up during the progress of the ceremonies, and very few of necessity could hear the voices of the speakers. Arriving at the cemetery, the burial service of the Lutheran Church was read by the Rev. W. V. Gatwald, after which Rev. Dr. Wombert of the Saint James Episcopal Church, delivered an address.

"ONLY ME."—A mother had two children, both girls—the elder, a fair child, the younger, a beauty and a mother's pet. The elder was neglected while "Sweet," the pet name of the younger, received every attention that love could bestow. One day, after a severe illness, the mother was sitting in the parlor, when she heard a childish step on the stairs, and her thoughts were instantly with that favorite.

"Is that you, Sweet?" she inquired.

"No, mamma," was the sad but touching reply, "it isn't Sweet—it's only me!"

The mother's heart smote her, and from that hour "only me" was restored to an equal place in her affections.

THE GLOBE FOR THE CAMPAIGN

We propose to send the Globe to campaign subscribers, to the 15th of November, at the following rates:

To single subscribers, . . . 45cts. per copy.
To clubs of 5 and less than 10, 35cts. " "
To clubs of 10 and less than 20, 20cts. " "
To clubs of 20 and upwards, 25cts. " "

The above rates will not cover expenses, but we are willing to contribute something that every voter in the county may have an opportunity to read the political news during the campaign. Our friends we hope will make an effort to get up clubs. Subscriptions invariably in advance.

☞Republicans, examine the assessment lists, and see that no man is on who should not be permitted to vote.

☞All the leading Johnsonites of Indiana have openly turned their backs upon the Democratic party, and announced their determination to take the stump for Grant and Colfax.

☞Since the close of the rebellion, 509 whites and 486 freedmen have been killed in the State of Texas. That State badly needs reconstructing, as it shows conclusively that the guerilla war is still kept up by the rebels in that benighted State.

☞The Democrats have a majority in the Ohio Legislature, and they are playing with the people's money nicely. They raised their pay to $5 a day, and hold a session of one hundred and thirty-four days, running a bill of $166,000. The Republican Legislature the year before received $93,843.

☞Peter Coopor, Esq., of New York, a prominent life-long Democrat, of eighty years standing, goes back on Seymour, and on the Democratic party, and is now an out-and-out Republican. He says the Democracy is anxious to establish an aristocracy.

☞There is now no doubt that the movement in the South to control the negro vote through the agency of the landholders and the employees, who refuse to employ colored laborers unless they vote the Democratic ticket, is assuming extensive proportions, and pervading every State. It is just as we supposed it would be.

☞"Brick" Pomeroy has established a daily paper in New York. "Brick" is popular with the Democracy. His great success tells against the success of Seymour and Blair. Such a leader as "Brick" should kill any party. He has "blowed" too soon what his party didn't want "blowed" until after the success of their candidates.

☞If this State is carried for Grant the Democracy will be greatly disappointed, as they will work to secure every vote it will be possible for them to secure. Grant's friends must work if they wish to carry the State. Never before have the Democracy went into a campaign more determined to win. They will do their best regardless of labor or expense. We must "match them" or lose.

ARE THEY FOR SUCCESS.—The Journal & American editors seem to be determined to keep alive a factious fight in this county. If delegates, or other active and earnest members of the Republican party fail to represent their selfish notions and wishes, they are at once denounced as unworthy the confidence of the Republican party. And because we are working more earnestly and more successfully for the success of all the Republican candidates than the editors of that factious paper can, they attempt to injure our influence by trying to create a doubt of our honesty in the position we have taken. We assure our neighbors that they will be disappointed if they expect us to take a single step backward in the great contest now going on between the two parties of the country. When we go into a fight we know no such word as fail until we are whipped, and having taken a position to fight the enemy of our party we cannot stoop to quarrel with them or any others jealous of our success. Honest and true Republicans will read the GLOBE, and the fact that our list is increasing at the rate of over fifty new names every week is very good evidence that they approve of our course and are anxious to assist us in our efforts to save the party from defeat in any one of its nominees.

☞The success of Wade Hampton in reanimating the rebellious spirit of those who for four years struggled to destroy the government, and the opportunity offered in the nomination of Seymour and Blair, have brought the infamous General Forrest to the forefront of Democratic leadership. In a late speech he struck the key-note after the following fashion:

"President Johnson, notwithstanding all he and others had done to gratify his pride in the National Convention, had gone back to; on the Democracy. He did not look for any help from him, but it matters not how many were arrayed against him and his old comrades. He liked peace, but if any of them were shot down, as he expected they would be, he would toot his horn. He knew that his old troops would answer as they had always done. He bade them arm themselves and be ready. They were already drilled and needed no drilling. If the fight opened, it would not be troops in line of battle confronting each other, but citizen against citizen. He should be in favor of giving no quarter."

Here we have the bugle call of the Democracy. All who like it are expected to fall into line. That it is sounded by the highest authority we are assured by the Mobile Register which says: "Forrest and Wade Hampton were the lions of the Democratic Convention, and of New York, and that they were dined and wined as never conquering heroes were before."

☞The Democrats have appealed to the ex-rebel Commissioner for the exchange of prisoners, Robert Ould, to show that General Grant was responsible for the non exchange of prisoners in 1864, and consequently for the suffering at Andersonville. He has of course done so, expecting to turn the Federal prisoners against Grant. This document from such a source cannot serve as a campaign document for the Democrats. Ould makes mere assertions, backed up by no official data. The Boys in Blue will never forget the inhuman treatment of their comrades incarcerated at Andersonville, nor will they believe it was any fault of our Government in delaying to exchange them.

☞We hear of slanders whispered against Capt. Neely, our candidate for Sheriff, by men who should be above such dirty business. We had an opportunity last week of learning from Capt. Neely's neighbors, Democrats and Republicans, that the charges made against him as being a "drunkard" or "drinking man," are false. Mr. Neely is known, by those who know him best, to be an honest, industrious, temperate man, and they were surprised to learn that such falsehoods should be asserted by men pretending to be politically honest. Mr. Neely cannot be defeated, so we would advise his enemies to save themselves the trouble of circulating falsehoods against him.

☞We are glad to learn that the friends of Grant and Colfax, and of the whole ticket down to and including Coroner, throughout the county, are alive to their duty. A strong pull and a pull altogether, will be necessary to defeat the Democracy in the State and Representative district, and we hope our friends will not take rest until the work is well done. But six short weeks and the first election will be upon us. Don't falter in the work before you. Circulate your papers and keep our friends booked up. A clean victory this fall will make your labors light for years to come.

☞The Democrats certainly do not expect to gain much by calling two of the present Republican candidates "renegade Democrats." The Republican party is not so bigoted that it will refuse to honor good men with positions simply because they before the war voted the Democratic ticket. The Democratic party alone can take to itself the credit of this much selfishness at least, for it is seldom if ever that a "renegade" Republican receives the tender of an office from its hands. Ambitious Democrats should see the force of this argument, and join the Republicans. The door is always open.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE.—The Democratic Congressional Conference of this District met in Tyrone on Thursday last, and nominated Col. John P. Linton of Ebensburg, to be beaten by Mr. Morrell.

WORK, NOT WORDS.—The Democrats are working, and to show how they intend to do it, we append the remarks of Wm. A. Wallace, the chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, at a Democratic meeting in Pottsville, the other week. Republicans will be profited by the suggestions, even if it is from a Democratic source:

"I come on business, and if I can meet you as I wish, it may be productive of good. What business is more important than that which tends to the preservation of the lives and property of citizens. I ask the same attention to this in the spirit which you attend to your private business. The successful merchant attends strictly to the details of his business; likewise the mechanic and farmer. Politics is a business, and must, if we intend to be successful, be attended to with care and fidelity. Organize from the bottom up, not from the top down. We must pay close attention to the details.—What are those details? Simply, to write down all the names of all the Democrats, of all Republicans, and of all doubtful voters. Have an executive committee that shall attend to this. Subdivide your election districts, and bring all the weight of your influence to bear on the doubtful ones to change them. Go to work, and don't blow about it. Do it silently. Hold your tongue about what you do. There is always some one in a locality who is weak-kneed. Go to him carefully and fix him. I come here to urge you to this work. Don't depend on shows, processions, and meetings. They don't amount to anything. Go to your executive committee, and it will give you useful work to do. If you fail to make converts, why, resolve to organize the Democracy, and go as a phalanx to the polls. Take warning by the falling off of your vote in 1867, by Democrats staying at home. See that every man comes to the polls on the day of the election. Bring them if necessary.—This work will tell in its influence in the coming election. Attend to the men ready to be naturalized. The chairmen of the State and county committees are powerless unless you join with them and assist. If this work should be done victory will be won. I come to impress upon you the necessity of organizing. The material for the work is in the hands of the county committee. Form clubs, and remember if we carry the Keystone State in October, the West will go for Seymour and Blair. The turning point is October."

We want every Republican in the county to read Wallace's instructions a second time, and then go to work in earnest to defeat the expectations of Wallace and his friends.

CONSERVATIVES, READ!—Voorhees has been nominated by the Democrats for Congress in the Sixth District of Indiana, and Vallandigham has been nominated for Congress in the Third District of Ohio. Both these "Vs" were beaten out of sight and consigned by public indignation to private life during the war, but the nomination of Seymour, on motion of Vallandigham, has brought all these old brass-mounted "Peace Democrats" to the surface again, blatant as ever, and convinced that Democratic victories in elections of 1867 are simply urgent popular invitions to them to return to public places. It is strange that these men will not be quiet long enough to give Democracy a chance to get breath. With such "Vs" in the North and such men as Hampton and Cobb in the South to pull for Seymour, can Conservatives longer hesitate which side to choose?

☞There is not the least doubt whatever that Pennsylvania can be made to give Hartranft and Campbell 25,000 majority. In the first place no two men occupying the same positions have ever given more satisfaction than have John F. Hartranft, as Auditor General, and Jacob M. Campbell, as Surveyor General. In administrative ability they are unsurpassed; and in faithful official services we trust Pennsylvania will always secure men of like scrupulous devotion to her interests. Both served the nation at the peril of their lives—both made a principle of entering the Union army—both left the army to promptly resume their positions in private life, and both are to day representative men of the people who make the nation a grandeur and a glory in the sight of the nations of the world.

BLAIR ON GRANT.—Frank Blair is represented to have said in Leavenworth that General Grant is a "great thinker," "the greatest man of the age," "worth more than Sherman, Sheridan and Thomas together," and "a greater man than Cromwell and the first Napoleon put together." To fortify these assertions, General Blair added that he knew Grant not only during the war, but before the war, when he used to haul wood into the city of St. Louis." This testimony of the Democratic candidate for the Vice Presidency ought to put a stop to the assertions of the Democratic journals that Grant has no brains, or else cause a candid admission that their "second choice" has gone stark mad.

☞John Minor Botts, of Virginia, when asked recently what he supposed to be the purpose of the Southern politicians if successful in the election, replied:

"Repudiation of the national debt, disfranchisement of the negroes, and if it could be accomplished, their re-enslavement might be attempted, and if not, then to apply the money that should go to the payment of the debt, to payment for the negroes."

In speaking of Seymour he said:

"I have no doubt that Mr. Seymour is at heart in full sympathy with the worst enemies of the country; his whole course during the war proved that very conclusively."

The Democratic Convention of the Third District of Ohio, on the 18th, nominated Vallandigham for Congress. Of course such as Vallandigham must be in Congress to back up Seymour if he should be elected.

To the Voters of Pennsylvania.

Rooms of the Republican State Central Committee, Philadelphia, August 18, 1868.—To the voters of Pennsylvania:—

Within sixty days you are to decide at the polls upon the principles and general policy that are to control the administration of public affairs for the next four years. On the result hang the grave questions of the peace and good order of society, and prosperity of the industrial interests, the development of the resources of the country, the integrity of the Union, and the guarantees of liberty.

In the outset of the contest the party that for four years paralyzed the arm of industry, by loading it with a burden of twenty-five hundred millions of debt, involved the country in civil war, and threatened the destruction of the Union and the overthrow of Liberty, solicits your suffrages declaring that it has no principles to advocate or measures to support, and calls upon its followers everywhere to defend nothing. With nothing in its history for years worthy to be defended, it is the part of wisdom not to make the attempt; for it has manacled the freedom of the press, crushed out liberty of speech and brutalized the public conscience in fifteen States. It ostracised every man who had the courage to declare human bondage a sin against God and a flagrant violation of the spirit and genius of the Republic. It waged a cruel war against the pioneer settlers of the Territories and covered the prairies of Kansas with murdered heroes, because they preferred freedom to slavery. It established a reign of terror, and made the residence of men faithful to the principles of the Declaration of Independence impossible on more than half the territory covered by the flag of a common country. Defeated in its efforts to elect a President of its choice, it appealed to arms to nullify the decision of the ballot box. In the struggle it laid a million of brave men in untimely graves, shrouded the nation in mourning, and flooded it with tears. Such are the ghastly testimonials of what the Democracy has done in years past.

No thanks to that party that to-day we have a country to love or a Constitution to revere. It did all in its power to destroy both.

And now it again seeks power thro' discord and civil strife. Four years, during the height of the nation's peril, the only hope of the party for success was in disaster to our arms. Hence it rejoiced at every Union defeat, and mourned over every Union victory.

Its candidate for Vice President declared to the convention that nominated him, "we must have a President who will execute the will of the people by trampling into the dust the usurpations of Congress known as the reconstruction acts. * * * I repeat this is the real and only question which we should allow to control us. It is idle to talk of bonds, greenbacks, gold, and the public credit. * * * * * * * * I wish to stand before the convention upon this issue." Thus was he nominated, and Wade Hampton advocating the ticket before an audience in South Carolina, declares "that the cause for which they fought, and for which Stonewall Jackson died, will yet be gained in the election of Seymour and Blair."

If this party can succeed at the ballot-box, the work of reconciliation for four years will be undone, and the priceless sacrifices of four others will have been made in vain.

The issue is marked and well defined:—Grant, Colfax, and Peace; or Seymour, Blair, and War.

GALUSHA A. GROW, Chairman State Central Committee.
GEO. W. HAMERSLEY, J. R. MCAFEE, } Secretaries.

☞Chief Justice Pearson, in a recent letter to the Conservatives of North Carolina, gives the following picture of how the campaign is now being conducted, making it appear that it is somewhat similar to the outbreak of the rebellion:

My countrymen! it is time to pause and refuse longer to follow the lead of violent politicians. We should discard prejudice and passion, and act on our own judgment as to what should be done under the circumstances by which we find ourselves surrounded.

The most violent members of any party provided that they can get members enough at the start to make a respectable showing, always carry their point, for reason is put aside, vituperation and abuse are hurled at all who hesitate—"he is not a friend of the South, he is a traitor to his race and color, etc., etc." The women and children (creatures of feeling) join in the clamor, and so it goes. You and I were opposed to secession, the bulk of the people oppose it, yet we were hurled into it. After the ordinance, like true men, we adhered to our State, and rendered faithful allegiance to the Confederacy up to the surrender.—What did we gain by it. I should rather ask, Who can estimate what we lost by it?

Let me ask, why did General Lee surrender? Because he could not help it! For the same reason, we must submit to the political not the social (for that is a thing under our own control) equality of the freedmen. This is "the situation"—the question is, shall we go on and again make bad worse, or shall we try to make the best of it?

As a sample of the "tremendous enthusiasm" which the nomination of Seymour and Blair excite in Indiana, we quote from the staunch Democratic paper, the Tipton Times, the following burning words of confidence and hope: "Our unfaithful and infamous delegates to the New York Convention sold us for Wall street gold, and we propose to know how much we brought—how much white men are worth in the market." They have rendered themselves infamous for all time to come. There is hearty enthusiasm for you!

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE.—The Republican Congressional Conference of this District met in this place on Thursday last, and nominated by a unanimous vote Hon. D. J. Morrell of Cambria county, for re-election. Mr. Morrell is one of the best members in the House, and will be re-elected by a heavy majority.

Political Chip Basket.

When Grant was receiving the submission of Pemberton, Seymour was addressing rebel sympathizers in New York.

A Washington telegram to the Baltimore American says a near relative of Mr. Seymour told a friend a few days since that his acceptance of the nomination was causing great uneasiness among his family and friends, as they were convinced that he could not bear up under the excitement of Presidential life if elected.

The Richmond organ of the Democracy says "Governor Seymour's position," as defined in his letter of acceptance, "endears him to the heart of every Southern white man, and will secure for him whatever electoral support our Congressional tyrants may be unable fraudulently to count for their own candidate."

Governor Seymour not only never owned a government bond, but, acting as one of the Trustees of a saving Bank in Utica, which bank invested some of its funds in government bonds, Seymour at a meeting of the Trustees, made a motion directing the Treasurer to sell all the government bonds as not being a safe investment. The motion did not carry because the majority of the Trustees were sensible loyal men.

Gov. Seymour has written a letter formally accepting the Tammany nomination. He says it was unsought and unexpected (?), but he was caught up by the whelming tide which is bearing the country on to a great political change, and proved himself unable to resist the pressure. The resolutions adopted at the Convention accord with his views. The Governor will find himself effectually drowned by the 'whelming tide' in November next.

The President is represented as displeased with the hasty announcement in Democratic papers to the effect that he intends to support Seymour and Blair — indeed this feeling of annoyance is so great that prominent Democrats in Washington city assert that they would not be surprised at a positive break on his part with the Democrats. One of the latter class most intimate with Mr. Johnson, and one of his own warm defenders, asserted on Tuesday the President was not inclined to do the Democrats any good and could not be depended on for any party aid whatever.

Gen. Grant has recommended the remission of the remainder of the sentences, and the release from imprisonment of all persons now in confinement under sentence of Military Commissions, organized under the Reconstruction acts of Congress, in all those States where the acts themselves have ceased to be operative. This embraces the seven Southern States re admitted under the Reconstruction acts. The recommendation is in harmony with the spirit of magnanimity which Gen. Grant has always manifested in his acts, public and private, and which will pervade and mark his administration when he becomes President.

SEYMOURISMS. — Horatio Seymour made a very bad record at the Tammany Convention. A few minutes before he was nominated as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, he declared to the Convention that "he could not and would not accept the nomination if tendered him." He has accepted it. He said that he "could not receive the nomination without placing himself and the Democratic party in a false position." He has done so. He said his honor was pledged not to receive the nomination and "upon a question of honor he must stand upon his own convictions against the world." He has accepted the nomination. He said that "honor forbade his accepting a nomination by that Convention." He has accepted it. He said that if he became the Democratic candidate for the Presidency, he "should feel a dishonored man."—He accepts the situation. Horatio Seymour stands before the people of the United States to-day, by his own repeated confession, a pledge-breaker and "dishonored man."

Look to Your Interests.

We have men and women in town who work against their own and the interests of the town and county. Business prospers—lives—if encouraged. But how many of our citizens are in the regular habit of patronizing the city mechanics and merchants in preference to our own? The property owners and those too who have business rooms to rent, expect the business and prosperity of the town will add to the value of their property and the increase of their rents—but they order from the city merchants and mechanics the articles wanted for themselves and families, thus denying our own merchants and mechanics the encouragement and support they are entitled to receive from men who desire to be considered good and useful citizens. Some of our merchants, mechanics, and men in other business, are also censurable for denying some of their fellow citizens the encouragement they are entitled to. The local press is an institution made use of by everybody—it is often used as public property to advance the interests of the town and country—often a free puffing machine for everybody, to bring dollars to the pockets of everybody but the printer. Yet, there are those in town who, to save one or two per cent., send their job printing to Philadelphia, and have it done, perhaps not as well as it could be done at home. Such business men should be known to all our citizens, and especially to the printers, and all favors denied them by the press. The man who encourages his fellow citizens to the extent of his ability is a true friend to the interests of the town and surrounding country—but the man who will take and not give, the sooner his place is occupied by another more generous, the better it would be for the large majority of the people. There is room for a great reform in the business of our town, and we want everybody to strike at the root of a practice injurious to the success of our business people and citizens generally.

Huntingdon and Broad Top Railroad.

We are pleased to note that the business transacted on this road during this season is flattering. The amount of travel to the Springs and between has been almost double what it has been in previous years, and the amount of coal now being carried is from twelve to sixteen hundred tons daily. Besides this the freight of iron ore from McConnellstown, Marklesburg and Bloody Run, is about five times greater, with fair prospects of an increase in this and other tonnage.

The road is well managed under the Superintendence of Mr. J. McKillips. Trains are running regularly and the fear of accidents is dispelled by the assurance that the trestles are kept in good repair. We have found the railroad officials in all capacities, to be accommodating in the first degree, and it is a pleasure to go over the road, if for nothing else than a round trip to make their acquaintance.

A New Lodge Opened.

We were present at the opening of Orbisonia Lodge, I. O. of O. F. No. 640, at Orbisonia this county, on Friday last, and had a very pleasant time. The dedication took place in the afternoon in the presence of Brothers from other Lodges, and a number of the citizens, ladies and gentlemen, of the neighborhood. In the evening elective officers were installed, and appointments made, as follows: D. S. Baker, N. G; W. S. Thompson, V. G; Jas. Hamilton, Secretary; Samuel Weight, Assistant Secretary; Wm. Gilliland, Treasurer; Robert Gebrett, W; George Baker, I. G; Joshua Bucher, O. G; T. M. Kelly, R. S. N. G; R S. Star, L. S. N. G; Geo. W. Cornelius, R S. V. G; Philip Kabis, L. S. V. G; R. S. Star, T. M. Kelly, Robert H. Gebrett, Trustees.

Pardoned from the Penitentiary.

The pardon papers, signed by Gov. Geary, of Nicholas Campbell, incarcerated in the Western Penitentiary, in Allegheny City, arrived there a day or two ago, and the prisoner was released from confinement. Campbell was sentenced from Huntingdon county on the 19th of April, 1866, for a term of three years for larceny and escape, and consequently would have had over one year and a half to serve.

A Narrow Escape.

On Tuesday afternoon last while Mr. Thomas Burchinell's carriage, containing five persons, was crossing the railroad track near Henry & Co's Store, a freight train suddenly came along, and struck the hind wheel of the coach. The occupants of the carriage were uninjured, but of course badly frightened, and had not Moses the driver, got out and held the horses, which were going backward, the body of the carriage would have been struck, and the four ladies might have been killed or seriously injured.

This is a very dangerous crossing—accidents have occurred, and will yet occur, unless the Railroad Company do something to prevent them. A watchman is needed to notify drivers of the approach of a train, and we hope the Company will station one there and not imperil the lives of our citizens any longer.

Just the Place.

We believe that we can say nothing better than the above, to denote our feelings when on a trip to Bloody Run, on the Broad Top Road, we hung up our hat at the hotel kept by Mr. C. Snell, formerly of the Jackson House of this place. His house is pleasantly situated at the western end of that thriving town, and we can commend it as just the place to find ample and extra accommodations for "man and beast," and then the eating—well, it won't do for us to say, as we might a tale unfold about ourself—but it is tip-top, showing that Mr. S. and his lady know just how to cater to the appetites of their guests. All who stop with Mr. Snell will find him a landlord in the most pleasant sense of that term, and if you stay once you will want to call again.

Sound and Sensible.

Would you have some genuine entertainment? Read the Illustrated Phrenological Journal for August—Now Ready—containing Portraits and Biographical Sketches of Ole Bull, Napoleon III., Bismark, Ludwig II. of Bavaria; the Prussian General Moltke; Vischer the German esthetic scholar; Garibaldi, H. D. Stratton, James D. B. De Bow, and of others; Patterson on Phrenology; Faith in God; Murder of the Innocents; Self-Culture, Brain or Muscle, Ideality and Sublimity, Poets and Poetry; Are You a Romanist; Living for a purpose; What is a change of heart? A very interesting Number. 33 a year, or $1.50 for a half year. Address, S. R. Wells, New York.

Robbery in Daylight.

On Friday afternoon last, an individual in female attire (we can hardly think it was a woman) entered the dwelling house of Mr. Daniel Newingham, in the Diamond, went up stairs, ransacked the pockets of one of the inmates, and stole about three dollars from a pocket book. This is the boldest robbery we have ever chronicled, to be done in broad daylight and in a house in the most public portion of the town. The thief was seen to enter, but no suspicion rested upon her, as it was supposed she was a visitor.

Duty.

It is a duty we owe to ourselves, as well as those who are dependent upon us, to preserve our health and strength. Speer's "Standard Wine Bitters" are found to be an unfailing and valuable assistant in maintaining the vigor of the system, and in keeping it in tone.

Sold by Druggists and Grocers.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PREMATURE DECAY.

Thousands go annually into premature graves because they neglect to preserve that inestimable blessing—good health. Sufferers from Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Constipation and similar ailments, your disease will take its inevitable course and end your days on earth, perhaps suddenly, unless you take the means to prevent it. But beware of false methods and use only a sure protection against the cause of these diseases, as well as the only absolute remedy for them. Fortify yourselves at once by a course of Schiller's Herb Bitters, and thus render your constitution and physique invulnerable to the attacks of epidemic disorders and the ordinary complaints which prevail in every locality. The most distinguished physicians of the present day use it in their practice, and positively declare that the whole science of medicine possesses no remedy that is half as efficacious for diseases arising from a disordered Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Intestines, &c., as Mishler's Herb Bitters. Teachers who are tardy in attendance need not expect admission into the class.

No teacher need apply for examination who will not submit to an examination in all the branches required by law. 1st18

Persons who are known to the Superintendent to use intoxicating drinks as a beverage, or to be of immoral character will not be examined. Those unknown to the Superintendent and directors must produce satisfactory evidence of good moral character.

Applicants are expected to be examined in the districts in which they apply for Schools. A certificate from the proper directors will be required before they can enter the class.

Directors are earnestly urged to be present at the examinations, and to make their selections of teachers, as far as practicable, on these occasions. Such a course would have a strong tendency to induce teachers to attend and prevent them from trying to evade a public examination. It would also relieve directors from much trouble in procuring teachers. It is hoped that these directors who favor the measure will give the requisite notices in their districts.

The special attention of directors is invited to the article headed "Teachers Salaries" found on page 45, Aug. No. Pennsylvania School Journal. It will be seen by the article referred to that the State Superintendent suggests that teachers be paid according to their proficiency, and according to their actual success in teaching. The article is most cordially commended.

The public are desired and respectfully invited to attend the examinations, but teachers who do not come to be examined but expect to be examined at some other place in the county are not invited, and if they will consult their own interests they will not attend.

Political.

Have We Conquered a Peace?--Shall We Have Peace?

(From the New York Times.)

General Grant in closing his letter of acceptance, with the words, "let us have peace," incisively hit the very heart of the party controversies. The great essential controlling issue in this Presidential canvass is nothing else than the choice between continued sectional strife and a permanent reconciliation. That issue is so plain that our opponents themselves do not try to hide it. All their dealing with it, thus far, from the beginning, has only been to make it the more conspicuous. With a fatal facility they are drawn to it in spite of themselves. They made haste to put it in the boldest relief in their platform, by that resolution which declared void, and of no effect, all that has been hitherto done for reconstruction, thus remitting everything to the civil chaos in which the war left us. They returned to it in the nomination of General Blair to the second place on their ticket immediately after his issue of the most incendiary and revolutionary letter ever seen in this land—a letter every syllable of which is an invocation of the Rebel spirit, and an instigation to renewed violence. The Rebel allies of the party in the South have been equally quick to recognize the actual alternative. Wade Hampton, still hot from the atmosphere of the Convention, assured the people of Charleston in a public speech that the Southern vote must be cast without regard to the Reconstruction laws; and that if that vote shall elect the Democratic candidates they "shall be installed in power in spite of all the bayonets that shall be brought against them;" and he proclaims his own readiness to enter the fight again, in those words, "Should South Carolina call her sons together to defend her altars, if life and volition are left to me, none will respond more cheerfully and promptly than myself." And in like spirit Howell Cobb, at the Democratic ratification meeting in Atlanta, "challenges combat." "Enemies they were in war, enemies they continue to be in peace. In war we drew the sword and bade them defiance. In peace, we gather up the manhood of the South, and raising the banner of constitutional equality, and gathering around it the good men of the North as well as the South, we hurl into their teeth today the same defiance, and bid them come on to the struggle. We are ready for it if you are. Young men, in whose veins the red blood of youth runs so quickly, come! Come one and all, and let us snatch the old banner from the dust and give it again to the breeze, and, if need be, to the god of battles, and strike one more honest blow for constitutional liberty." This is just the revolutionary rhetoric that has been employed everywhere throughout the South by editors and by stump-speakers, in hailing and helping forward the Democratic nominations. The same identical means are used now to "fire the Southern heart" as were used in 1860. The incendiary work, too, is done by the same old bands at the business, with the exception of Yancy, who has been taken to his final account.

And it all tends to the same terrible result—reckless insubordination and bloody resistance. Though, for want of the sinews of war, this may not, at present, take the shape of another regular rebellion, yet the whole Southern atmosphere will again become impregnated, as it used to be, with a fixed spirit of disloyalty which will need but the favoring moment to precipitate itself into a sweeping revolution. Whether the sharp decisive crisis would be suspended for a longer or a shorter period would be of comparatively little consequence. We have already learned in our national experience that the very suspense of such a revolutionary element in the air is an immeasurable evil. It is a standing menace, which destroys all that security which civil government is, first of all, designed to establish. It invests everything with uncertainty, making anything like safe calculation impossible in any affairs, public or private. The great crime of the Democratic party before the rebellion was its long course of demoralizing the Southern mind, year in and year out, to such a degree that at last rebellion was made possible, and it is questionable whether the rebellion itself, even in its most flagrant days, was a heavier curse than the lingering agony of doubt and apprehension which preceded it.

The hope of making an end forever of all the old sectional troubles did more than all things else to impel the country to fight the war thoroughly through. The supreme aim of the North was to conquer a peace—a peace solid and enduring, abolishing alike all disturbance and all fear of disturbance thereafter. If we have not conquered such a peace, the war will go into history as the worst of failures. It will turn out that all the incalculable blood and treasure which it cost were worse than wasted. In the last Presidential canvass the Democratic party declared the prosecution of the war a "failure," and boldly presented that issue to the people. In the present canvass the real issue is still the same—whether or not the war shall be turned into a failure. On the other occasion the patriotism of the country roused itself, and inflicted upon the party the most stunning defeat ever known in our political history. There is the same call for just as signal an overthrow now. The course of peaceful constitutional government will be just as effectually promoted by sustaining General Grant as it was by sustaining him when at the head of his armies then. Wade Hampton and all his Rebel allies will be just as much discomfited in the one case as they were in the other.

There is one hope, and only one, for the real pacification of the country; and that hope is in such an administration as General Grant promises us—an administration which shall unite fidelity to the Constitution and laws, with a spirit of justice and good will to all—an administration which shall be inspired by a calm spirit and moderate counsels, which will follow with cautious but with constantly advancing steps the progress of the Southern mind—which by kindness and fairness in all its dealings with the Southern people, and promptness to redress all their actual grievances, will entitle itself to their esteem and confidence, and enable itself to oppose with authority and effect the instigations of all the old pestilent tribe of fire-eaters; an administration which will always prefer solid reality to untried theory, and instead of making void the Reconstruction laws, will most tenaciously hold on to all that has hitherto been gained for reconstruction, thankful for its existence, and intent only upon making the work complete.

This difference between the result of the election of Seymour and the result of the election of Grant is clearly discerned and keenly taken to heart by the Union men of the South. Joshua Hill, the newly elected Union Senator in Georgia, who did most heroic battle against the Cobbs and Toombses of his State before the Rebellion, and held firmly to the old flag through all the varying fortunes of the struggle—this clearest sighted and truest of Southern men, in his speech at Atlanta responsive to his election, in the most emphatic way enforced upon his loyal henrers the necessity of supporting Grant and Colfax, as the only means of saving the country from continued strife. From the beginning of the canvass all the Union leaders throughout the South, in their public addresses, have constantly presented this alternative of reposo or tranquility as the dominant issue of this Presidential election. Their solemn convictions upon this matter ought to have a peculiar weight with all fair Northern minds, for their own patriotism has been proved by the sharpest tests, and withal they have had the best of all possible opportunities of knowing the present as well as the past spirit and purposes of the national enemies around them.

Nothing is wanting, nothing Northern or Southern, nothing loyal or Rebel, nothing in the way of internal evidence or of positive testimony of deduction, confession, inference, or palpable fact—absolutely nothing is wanting to establish the real character of the present election issue. That once settled in any honest mind, so is all else.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in fashionable Female attire! One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebels etc, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your faith, ers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.

IF A HUMBUG,
What a wonder
That the doors
Are open wide;
Ever since the
Fi-st of August
Thousands have
Pain Paint applied.
Those who lie,
Or call it humbug,
Are the doctors,
Not acquaint;
For they always
Have been jealous
When their patients
Use Pain Paint.
Pile up incts
As high as mountains,
Flash the truth
Before their eyes,
But the cry
Is always humbug,
Non of science
Full of lies.
People know that liniments composed of Cayenne pepper, turpentine, bat-bors, other, &c., will produce inflammation and pain. To purchase such trash to stop Pain and Inflammation is ridiculous. Fire will not stop heat; a dumb brute shuns the heat, and knows enough to wade in a pond of water, when wounded, to reduce, cool, and cure Inflammation and Fever.
Fixers and gamblers try to look honest, but folks can read the lies too plainly. Some try to persuade the ignorant that pills, physic, &c., cleanse the blood, purge the system, and do a hundred other things equally absurd. Everybody knows that it is false, and that no medicine can purify or increase a drop of blood. Food makes blood, bone, and muscle, and is the Staff of Life. Every dose of medicine swallowed is rejected, and hurried out of the system as quick as possible. It is an enemy; yes, a deadly foe. Constipation, ill health, and weakness, are the result of dosing, dosing, dosing the stomach.—The living system has enough to do without working herself to death in expelling and kicking out the pernicious nostrums poured down the throat. Send she welcomes when she needs it; you, asks for it. Let pill-makers and physic venders stop eating food, and see how long they can subsist on their blood-purifying, invigorating, health-giving medicines and cordials. What humbug is more transparent? A dog would feel so insulted, if offered a dose, he would curl his tail downward in scorn, and run away in utter disgust. All physical pain arises from inflammation. Put out the fire and you stop pain absolutely. You can stop pain as easy as you can quench fire with water. WOLCOTT'S PAIN PAINT subdues inflammation, heat, and fever one hundred times faster than ice. Thousands have had a practical test of its merits at the very moment of most extreme pain, and they can testify that it has not failed in doing its work. It is simple; it is harmless; it has no stain; it gives no smart; it is for sale by Druggists everywhere; and it is tested free of cost at 170 CHATHAM SQUARE, N. Y., and 622 Arch Street, Ph-ladelphia.
My wife had an ulcer on her leg for thirteen years, caused by varicose veins, ulceration extended from her ankle to her knee, some pieces eating away to the bone. I have employed over twenty physicians at vast expense during this period. But all attempts at cure proved utterly abortive until I tried Dr. Wolcott's Pain Paint, when the doctors told me was a humbug. But humbug or not, it has done the work completely in less than one month, removing the pain at the first application. I kept her leg wet with Pain Paint constantly until healed. I wish we had more humbugs as useful as Dr. Wolcott's Pain Paint. I am well known in this city, any person who wants to make further inquiry will call at 101 West Street, New York, at the Hanover House, of which I am the proprietor, and I think I can satisfy them as to the benefit derived by the use of Pain Paint.
May 15, 1868. PETER MINCK.
I am selling Wolcott's Pain Paint and Annihilator, and it certainly gives satisfaction to my customers.

I sell more of Wolcott's Pain Paint than all the other patent medicines combined and I keep a full supply of all that have any demand.
